

TEGNA Wins 82 Regional Edward R. Murrow Awards

April 25, 2017

MCLEAN, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 25, 2017-- TEGNA (NYSE: TGNA) today won 82 Regional Edward R. Murrow Awards, including five for overall excellence, the highest honor awarded. TEGNA's 82 awards are the most in the company's history and are more than any other station group in 2017. The Edward R. Murrow Awards are sponsored by the Radio Television Digital News Association (RTDNA) and honors outstanding achievements in electronic journalism.

"I am incredibly proud of the work our journalists do every day to tell stories that matter, empower our communities and serve the greater good," said Dave Lougee, president, TEGNA Media. "We are connecting with our audiences through innovative, impactful and engaging content that makes a difference. Congratulations to all our winners for this well-deserved recognition."

KUSA in Denver, CO won 12 Regional Edward R. Murrow Awards, more than any other station, including an award for Overall Excellence. WBIR in Knoxville, TN won their fifth consecutive Overall Excellence Award. KARE in Minneapolis, MN, KING in Seattle, WA and WGRZ in Buffalo, NY also won for Overall Excellence.

TEGNA also won four Excellence in Innovation awards, the first time the award has been given.
