

Judi Terzotis named president and publisher of the Fort Collins Coloradoan

March 31, 2011

MCLEAN, Va., Mar 31, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

Gannett Co., Inc. (NYSE: GCI) announced today that Judi Terzotis has been named president and publisher of the Fort Collins Coloradoan. She formerly was associate publisher of Freedom Communications' The Gazette in Colorado Springs, CO. She held that position since 2009.

"I'm delighted to welcome Judi back to Gannett," said Robert Dickey, president of U.S. Community Publishing. "Judi is a dynamic leader with a distinguished track record. She is a strategic thinker who executes well and has made every organization she has worked for stronger. Judi will navigate the competitive media landscape and provide effective marketing solutions for Fort Collins businesses. I expect she will work closely with the team at the Coloradoan to provide a high level of journalism and content that is relevant to our readers. Under her leadership, the Coloradoan Media Group will continue to be a strong community leader and serve our many customers."

Prior to joining The Gazette, Terzotis was advertising director at Gannett's The Clarion-Ledger in Jackson, MS, from 2007-2009; president and publisher of The Daily News Journal in Murfreesboro, TN, from 2004-2007; vice president of specialty publications at The Tennessean in Nashville, TN, from 2006-2007; and general manager of Middle Tennessee Community Newspapers in Nashville from 1998-2004. Earlier, she held other advertising and executive management positions with newspapers published by Multi-Media Newspaper Corporation and Morris Newspaper Corporation.

In Colorado Springs, Terzotis was chair for the American Heart Association's "Go Red for Women" campaign and was on the board of directors for the Greater Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce and Care and Share. She also served on the Junior League Advisory Council.
