True crime fans can now watch True Crime Network's programming on Amazon Fire TV, Apple TV, via mobile and tablet apps on iOS and Android operating systems, Chromecast, and on the web at watch.truecrimenetworktv.com. The True Crime Network app will also be available on Roku later in August.

The True Crime Network streaming app includes more than 250 hours of compelling true crime and mystery content, including popular titles such as "Dr. G: Medical Examiner," "72 Hours: True Crime," "Cruise Ship Killers," and "Poisonous Liaisons." New episodes will be added each month, with more than 500 hours of content planned by the end of 2020.

The True Crime Network app also features a growing library of original true crime documentaries produced by TEGNA stations and podcasts by TEGNA's VAULT Studios.

"The True Crime Network app offers one destination for true crime fanatics' fascination," said Brian Weiss, president and general manager of True Crime Network. "Best of all, the app is free, setting it apart from other true crime OTT streaming apps that require a subscription fee or cable login. Featuring compelling shows, original documentaries and podcasts, the True Crime Network app is an unbeatable bingeworthy option for true crime fans, and further sets TEGNA apart as an innovator in the OTT space."
